Artist Profile

Carter Eng has performed at many famous festivals across the U.S. and Europe, including the Newport, North Sea and Montreux Jazz Festivals. In 2018, he was a finalist for the Grammy Band and received a full scholarship to attend the Berklee Global Jazz Institute Workshop. With the Roosevelt Jazz Band, winners of the 2019 Essentially Ellington Competition, he has received numerous soloist awards as well as the school's "Waldo King Inspirational Award" for being a dedicated leader and outstanding musician. He has shared the stage with many of today's professionals including Chad Lefkowitz-Brown, Matt Wilson, David Sanchez, and Warren Wolf. Carter currently lives in the Bay Area as a student in the Roots, Jazz, and American Music program at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, studying with Mario Guarneri and Mike Rodriguez.
