“Music is a more potent instrument than any other for education because rhythm and harmony find their way into the inward places of the soul.”

The Art of Gift Planning

Gift planning is the art of combining financial, estate and tax planning techniques that enable donors to make gifts of surprising significance, often with dramatic tax and financial benefits.

Like any great musician, playing your part is a matter of making sure you start at the right time. Consider talking with the Director of Legacy Giving before you:

- Sell investments - particularly at a profit
- Make or amend your Will or establish a Living Trust
- Sell your business, vacation or rental property, farm, land or other real estate
- Roll over low-interest CDs or bonds at their maturity
- Name beneficiaries for pension plans or life insurance policies

BY USING GIFT PLANNING, YOU CAN:

- Earn income, pay fewer taxes, and secure your retirement
- Enhance your net estate for your heirs
- Get more from your real estate
- Create a personal and lasting legacy
Make a lasting difference:

As a dedicated music lover, alumnus or friend of the Conservatory, it’s likely that you have had the thought: “I wish I could do more.” With gift planning, you can ensure the future of music education by combining techniques that can help you to answer the 4 main questions:

› What should I give?
› When should I give?
› How should I give?
› Which program should I support?

PLANNING WHAT TO GIVE

You can obtain different tax benefits from giving different types of property. Donating highly appreciated stock allows you to deduct the fair market value, not just your original cost. This larger deduction and the ability to avoid capital gains taxes make these appreciated assets a particularly attractive funding option. Gifts of real estate, partial or otherwise, mutual funds, and other types of property, offer the same advantages. It makes good sense to leave “tax-burdened” assets like savings bonds and retirement accounts to SFCM allowing your heirs to avoid associated taxes.

PLANNING HOW TO GIVE

Support our capital, endowment, and scholarship campaigns through a bequest in your Will or Living Trust. Or structure a gift that pays you a lifetime income while SFCM receives the remainder. Let us help you find the best way to receive charitable deductions and other tax benefits while maintaining your financial security as you make a meaningful contribution to our future.
PLANNING WHEN TO GIVE

Like many donors, you may consider planning gifts at the end of the year to provide important tax deductions. Charitable contributions are most helpful in years when you have an unusual increase in taxable income from an inheritance, bonus, sale of a business, or a successful investment. Making any significant gift is best fulfilled through a well-structured estate plan or a simple Will, Living Trust, or beneficiary designation on a life insurance policy or retirement account.

PLANNING WHICH PROGRAM TO SUPPORT

Your support can be directed to fulfill your personal philanthropic desires or can be left to the Board of Trustees to be applied wherever it is needed most (unrestricted). They can also be given in memory of a loved one, in someone’s honor or designated to support a particular fund, department, or program so that they reflect your area of interest.
STRATEGIC WAYS TO MAKE YOUR GIFT

Turning Assets into Impact

ASSETS
› Cash
› Appreciated Securities
› Retirement Plan Assets
› Life Insurance - outright or beneficiary designation
› Personal Property - based on our Gift Acceptance Policy
› Real Estate - residential, commercial, farm, or undeveloped land
› Interests in a partnership, closely held or family business

ESTATE GIFTS

Bequests
Your Will or Living Trust is the most personal of documents and in many ways is a statement of what matters most to you in life. After providing for family and friends, many people focus on philanthropy towards the things that mean the most to them. SFCM is chosen to fulfill someone’s philanthropic wishes because it supports both music and education, thereby ensuring that the art of making and composing music is supported for generations to come.

Whether this is your first gift or the culmination of a lifetime of joyful support, a bequest allows you to make a gift to SFCM, receive an estate tax deduction for the amount of your gift, and leave a lasting legacy in a program or campaign that is the most meaningful to you.

Life Insurance
Change the original use for your life insurance and consider making SFCM the beneficiary to support students in their education. You can do this by transferring an existing policy, retaining ownership but adding SFCM as a beneficiary or creating a new policy to benefit SFCM.

Statement of Donor Intent
We strongly believe that donors’ gifts should support the area/s of SFCM that are the most meaningful to them. We accomplish this by drafting a Statement of Donor Intent with you that specifies the intended use of the gift when it is received. We offer this confidential service at no cost or legal obligation, and if your interests or philanthropic desires change over your lifetime, you are free to modify this Statement of Donor Intent without redrafting your Will.

Sample bequest language
If you wish to include SFCM in your Will of Living Trust, the following language may be useful to you and your attorney.

“I give to SFCM [the sum of $____] OR [____ percent] of the remainder my estate to be used by the Board of Trustees for [its general purposes (“unrestricted”)] OR [for a specific campaign, endowment, scholarship or program] OR [according to a previous statement of donor intent already agreed to between SFCM and me].”
Life Income Gifts

Life income gifts allow you to receive income from your asset as well as tax benefits, even after you commit them to SFCM. There are several gift strategies which offer special advantages and benefits:

- They pay income to you or others you designate.
- You receive an immediate income tax deduction.
- You receive potential deductions or elimination of gift, estate and capital gains taxes.
- You avoid or reduce capital gains if appreciated property is used to make a gift.

You can create any of the following gift plans during your lifetime or establish them in your Will. Work with your Estate Attorney to determine which life income gift works best for you.

Charitable Gift Annuity

A charitable gift annuity is among the easiest and most popular methods of making a planned gift. You make a gift to SFCM and SFCM in turn promises to pay you an income for the remainder of your life at a fixed annual rate that is established at the time of your gift, based on age. After death, SFCM receives the remainder of the annuity which can be designated to a program of your choice or remain unrestricted.

A variation on this theme, is the Deferred Charitable Gift Annuity, which requires that income payments are deferred for at least one year and do not begin until an agreed future date (after you turn 60). This allows you to supplement future income on a tax-deferred basis when you may need it most.

Charitable Remainder Trust

A Charitable Remainder Trust can be created in your lifetime or through your estate. The trust can be established for one or two lifetimes or for a term of up to twenty years and provides you or those you select with annual income.

A Charitable Remainder Annuity Trust gives you fixed annual income while a Charitable Remainder Unitrust gives you variable annual income based on market adjusted asset value.

Charitable Lead Trust

A Charitable Lead Trust is similar but the annual income is received by SFCM at a fixed or variable rate based on asset value, while reducing your tax costs upon transfer of the asset to your heirs.
RETAINED LIFE ESTATE
You can receive a large charitable deduction by donating a residence while retaining the right to live there for a fixed term, the remainder of your lifetime or of your spouse. This can be your primary residence, vacation home or farmland and your deduction is taken upon transfer.

HYBRID ESTATE GIFTS
Qualified Individual Retirement Accounts are taxable on transfer to your heirs. Once you have reached 72, one strategy to reduce taxable income is to use the Required Minimum Distribution as a Qualified Charitable Distribution (QCD), up to $100,000 annually. Directing all or part of the amount required to SFCM, avoids a potential increase in your tax bracket which may jeopardize other income related benefits.

SFCM receives the maximum benefit of your gift while you avoid reporting this income on your tax return.
When you designate SFCM as the beneficiary you avoid the tax associated with the transfer to your heirs while providing funds for generations to come. You can replace the value of the gift with an insurance policy that transfers to your heirs tax free.
This strategy allows you to create a living legacy, enabling you to witness the full impact of your philanthropy during your lifetime, knowing that the remainder will continue to support students as your legacy gift.

Example:
Let’s say you are turning 72 this year and have a qualified IRA of $1,000,000. You would have a Required Minimum Distribution of $39,063 based on a distribution period of 25.6 years. This would appear on your tax return as taxable income, which could affect other benefits you are receiving. A tax smart alternative would be to transfer the full amount to SFCM as a QCD eliminating the income from appearing on your tax return. This amount could make a big difference to the annual fund, contribute to a scholarship or build up the endowment fund. If you designate SFCM as the account beneficiary, the remaining value of the IRA becomes your legacy gift which can fund an endowed scholarship in your name or in honor of a loved one.
What you can support:

Support the fund that is most meaningful to you or wherever it is needed most.

- Unrestricted
- General Endowment Fund
- General Scholarship Fund
- Program specific

Endowed Scholarships are available for gifts of $100,000 or more in a name of your choice. Contact the Director of Legacy Giving to discuss how your gift can support your philanthropic program far into the future.
