

USF/SFCM Intensive English Program - Summer 2018

The San Francisco Conservatory of Music offers a Intensive English Program, through the University of San Francisco, for non-native speakers. This program is designed for students who would like to start a degree at SFCM in the fall semester but need to improve their English language skills before doing so. The program is also appropriate for international students who wish to refresh their English language skills in the United States before starting a degree program at SFCM.

In addition to intensive ESL coursework at the University of San Francisco, students in the Intensive English Program, will incorporate the study of music into their summer experience.

In 2018, this program runs from July 2 until August 10. Move-in to Panoramic student housing is Friday, June 29, and details will be emailed to students that are attending. Please note that elements of the program such as tuition and health insurance are billed to student from USF, other elements such as housing will be billed by SFCM.

Program Features:

- Small classes and individual attention; 25 hours of English instruction per week
- TOEFL workshops
- Extra-curricular activities in the San Francisco Bay Area
- Access to USF and SFCM facilities, practice rooms, resources, events
- Dedicated faculty who hold master's and doctoral degrees
- Housing option at the Panoramic, SFCM's residence for students

Fees:

Application Fee (required, paid to USF)	$100
Tuition (required, paid to USF)	$2,538
TOEFL Testing Fee (required, paid to USF)	$40
Textbooks (required, paid to USF)	$120
Health Insurance for Summer (USF-provided, required, paid to USF)	$330
Housing at Panoramic (required for first-semester undergraduates; is optional if living already in San Francisco; speak with Office of Student Affairs; paid to SFCM)	$2,250
Personal expenses, including food and transportation (estimated personal expense)	$713
Total (required costs and estimated costs)	$6,091